

Acta Medica Medianae
UDK 61,
ISSN 0365-4478 (Printed version)
ISSN 1821-2794 (Online)

Journal of the University of Niš Faculty of Medicine and the Department of the Serbian Medical Society in Niš.

Aims and Scope

Acta Medica Medianae is the official journal of the Faculty of Medicine University in Niš, Serbia. It is an international journal that publishes peer-reviewed papers in the broadly defined field of medical sciences and education: internal medicine, pediatrics, surgery, molecular and laboratory medicine, dentistry, pharmacology, epidemiology, public health, etc. The Journal is nationally recognized as a leading source of current medical information.

The journal's goal is to communicate important new information in clinical and molecular research and to provide new knowledge to physicians in order to insure better care for patients. Acta Medica Medianae publishes original observational and experimental papers, case studies, review articles, editorials, proceedings, short communications, and meta-analyses. It may also include important research relating to the history of medicine, current topics, book reports and contributions. The Journal publishes only original papers that have not been published before nor will be published elsewhere. The Journal comply to the strickt ethical regulations with the content and data collection (see Clinical and Experimental Work Code).

Acta Medica Medianae is an open access journal with all content freely available without charge to the user or his/her institution. The journal retains the right for further distribution and printing of the articles. Please see our Guide for Authors for information on article submission. If you require any further information, please contact us.